{bexley art league}

The Bexley Art League was founded in 1961, making it the first art league of its kind in Central Ohio. The first president was Leland McClelland. Our mission is to promote art in the community while extending opportunities for exhibition, education, and fellowship to artists. BAL has long supported excellence in its league membership. Although some members are emerging artists, many are full-time professionals, some with national and international accreditation. Membership is also extended to devoted art patrons who support our efforts in many ways. Exhibition opportunities sponsored by the Bexley Art League include juried and non-juried shows. Monthly meetings provide an opportunity to get together and to meet with speakers to discuss a wide variety of art related topics. Special events are scheduled usually in June and December. For more information, or to join, please visit <http://www.bexleyartleague.com>

{clintonville arts guild}

The Clintonville Arts Guild was founded in 1972 to promote the visual arts within the Clintonville community, and create a stimulating, encouraging and supportive environment where local artists and craftspeople can share both their ideas and their passion for the arts. Our members work in clay, fiber, and glass; watercolors, acrylics and oils; photography and ink; precious metals, gemstones, and beads; gourds, wood, and found materials. CAG offers monthly programs on topics ranging from art as a business, to creativity, to hands-on exploration of various techniques and materials. CAG hosts several member exhibitions each year in area galleries, and our annual Holiday Show and Sale in November has become a fixture of Clintonville life. We also provide a yearly scholarship for a local high school student going on to major in art. For more information, or to join, please visit <http://clintonvillearts.org>

{dublin area art league}

For over 25 years The Dublin Area Art League has been supporting and promoting the visual arts in and around Central Ohio. Membership is open to any age and any level of ability, and new members are always welcome. In addition to several exhibition opportunities each year, the DAAL is a convenient, friendly way for artists to develop their talents, connect with other local artists, and further develop their interest in the visual arts. Community involvement is an important part of the DAAL. From scholarships for Dublin high school students who intend to major in art in college, to our sponsorship of the Annual Dublin Art Fair, the art league has a long history of giving back to the Dublin community. Each summer we hold a weekly "Art Stroll and Paint Out" in the Historic Dublin Business District. The strolls take place on Thursday evenings for a few weeks in July and August, with the Paint Out held on the first day. The events coincide with the Historic Dublin Business District's Slainté Thursdays and are always a good time. The Paint Out competition is open to anyone to enter for a small fee. Participants have to create a painting in just one day, afterwards all artworks are displayed in the Dublin Library. For more information, or to join, please visit <http://dublinohioart.com>

{german village art league}

German Village Art League was established in 2009 to cultivate awareness, appreciation and accessibility of contemporary art for its cultural enrichment within the community. We invite artists of all mediums, business owners, sponsors, and partners from various locations throughout the world. The annual "The Language of Art" exhibit features visual art complemented by ekphrasis poetry – the graphic, often dramatic description of a visual work of art in poem. Selected artwork will be assigned to a poet, who will produce a poem that reflects their experience with the art. GVAL challenges visual artists to submit work that will inspire the poets' pens. For centuries, visual art has influenced the way we see the world as has poetry. "The Language of Art" brings them together through an exploration of inspiration and nuance with sometimes unexpected and unintended results. For more information, or to join, please visit <http://www.gvartleague.com>

{ohio art league}

In 1909 a group of 40 graduates of the Columbus Art School formed the Columbus Art Students League for the purpose of organizing artists with an objective of "mutual and public benefit." Nearly 100 years later, that vision has become the Ohio Art League and has affected the lives of thousands of Ohio artists including such distinguished members as Alice Schille, Roy Lichtenstein, Emerson Burkhart, and George Bellows. Currently, Ohio Art League serves over 600 artist members and operates from its gallery in the South Campus Gateway on The Ohio State University Campus in Columbus, Ohio. The Ohio Art League is a membership-based non-profit visual arts organization. We provide exhibition and professional development opportunities to artists and enrich the community through art. The Ohio Art League offers a variety of programs including monthly member curated exhibitions, two annual juried exhibitions, exhibition opportunities at the Port Columbus Gateway to the Arts, :art INFormal: a forum to discuss works in progress and upcoming artistic opportunities, life drawing sessions, and workshops. For more information, or to join, please visit <http://www.oal.org>

{worthington area art league}

The Worthington Area Art League is a group of dedicated artists with varied backgrounds from throughout central Ohio. Since the 1960s, members of this volunteer-based organization have shared their passion for all forms of art. Members constantly learn from each other and share their artistic styles with the public. The Worthington Area Art League is open to amateur and professional artists and patrons of the arts over the age of 18. The purpose of the League is to bring together those interested in art in the community. The League holds monthly meetings, hosts online portfolios for member artists in its web page, has several judged shows per year, and has many other opportunities for creating and exhibiting art. Monthly meetings feature guest speakers who present timely art topics. The enthusiasm of the members is what has made the Worthington Area Art League the largest art league of its kind in the State of Ohio.
